Our Banking and Finance Practice

In the last three decades, we have handled some of the most complicated and first-of-its-kind financing transactions in China, including the first syndicated loan transaction, the first loan secured by the mortgage on land use rights and the first non-recourse financing in the Chinese real estate sector.

With the integration of the Chinese economy into the global economy, we have built multi-jurisdictional capabilities in cross-border banking financing transactions. Our financing lawyers are admitted to practice law in the PRC, Hong Kong and England and Wales.

We have represented many international and domestic financial institutions and borrowers/sponsors in a wide range of banking and finance matters. In recent years, we have also actively represented Chinese lenders, export credit agencies, sponsors and vendors in projects, including infrastructure projects in emerging markets.

Our banking and finance teams across the Greater China offices handle a broad range of transactions covering the following product types.

Acquisition Financing and Leveraged Buyout Financing

We have a leading practice in acquisition finance involving acquisitions in China and in transactions involving Chinese acquirers. We regularly serve as bank counsel in large acquisition financings or represent the largest and most sophisticated financial sponsors and corporate borrowers in financing some of the largest China-related transactions.

Our banking lawyers work closely with lawyers in capital markets, mergers and acquisitions and private equity to offer clients a coordinated, complete service that addresses all aspects of the acquisition financing process. We cover conduct of due diligence, transaction structuring, drafting financing documents (both at the commitment paper stage as well as the full documentation stage) and the establishment and perfection of credit support.

Structured Finance

We have well established experience assisting our clients in structured financing products such as margin securities financing and highly structured mezzanine debt and other structured financial products.

We also act for international and local financial institutions and alternative credit providers on their proprietary money investments taking the form of structured secured debt and loans linked to equity options.

Trade Financing

Our team has deep knowledge of, and experience in, trade financing-related legal matters, including cross-border letters of credit, import-export financing, letters of guarantee, receivables purchasing and factoring. Our clients include regional and international financial institutions and factoring houses.

Project Financing

Our banking and finance team, with the support from the firm's project, real estate and corporate teams, has structured and led major project financing transactions in many countries. As well as advising lenders, export credit agencies and other financiers, we handle many project finance work for borrowers and sponsors.

We have been involved in various project financings involving developments in the petrochemical, power and energy, infrastructure, water, real estate, transportation and waste disposal sectors.

In recent years, we have been active in the project financing transactions in the Asia Pacific region, Africa and Latin America.

We maintain close relations with leading independent firms in major jurisdictions and can assist clients to obtain the best local advice in the countries where projects are undertaken or financed.

Corporate Lending

We have expertise in a wide range of bilateral, club and syndicate lending and security arrangements across a broad range of businesses. Our lawyers have experience of corporate loans across many industries and sectors. They are well versed in security creation and perfection in China and in the region, covering all security types.

General Banking, Regulatory and Compliance

We frequently advise commercial banks on their daily operational matters. We are the retainer law firm for a number of prominent domestic and foreign banks, and our lawyers are experienced in assisting commercial banks in the formulation of their standard banking documentation and providing legal advice on regulatory issues. We also give legal advice to commercial banks on compliance and assist as liaison on their behalf with the regulatory authorities in China.
